BRADING MATTER ON EVERY PAGE. SEE OUTSIDE FOR INTERESTING THEE. GRAPHIC AND OTHER MATTER.

SPIRIT OF THE MORNING PRESS. The Intelligencer cannot see that the Emperor of the French has, in his correspondence or speeches, betrayed any "persistent purpose" to interfere in American difficulties, as has been imputed to him by the New York Times and other papers. The Chronicle is without editorial to-day.

TREASON AND OTHER THINGS. "Copperhead" Vallandigham-so he styles himself-made a speech at Newark, N. J., on Saturday evening, wherein he strove to distinguish himself as much by calumny of the Secretary of State and misrepresentation of his views and purposes as by the utterance of bold, unalloyed treason. His assaults upon Mr. Seward are in the same spirit that marks the outpourings of Greeley's malignity-the offspring of unsatisfied desire for office. He holds him responsible for the "arbitrary arrests" of which he clamors so constantly, and which are acknowledged to have been one of the most effective blows struck at the rebellion, and in the same breath charges that he is seeking to place himself at the head of a "conservative party," and avowing as his policy that "We will prosecute the war gently; we will have the war kang on." Whether this coincidence in sentiment between the Obio "copperhead" and the New York radical is significant of a formal alliance and affiliation in the pursuit of common objects and the gratification of concurrent malice, and whether, if so, the radical is to don the "butternut" and become a "copperhead." or to receive the quondam prison confessor of John Brown and fellow inquisitor with J. M. Mason into his striped and speckled political family, will be developed in due time. There is a difference in the declared treasonable purposes of these new allies; but it can doubtless be easily harmonized. Greeley consents to continue to sustain the Government till the first of May, and is then for disunion. Vallandigham lifts the voice, and, if he dared, would lift the arms, of a traitor against the Union now. If they cannot by mutual concession arrange their differences sooner, the first of May will soon be here, and they will then find themselves on the same platform. With all his calumnies and threats and traitorous vaporings, Mr. Vallandigham gives some evidence of common sense in announcing his own judgment that he could be more useful elsewhere than "in the halls of legislation." In this opinion the people of the third congressional district of Ohio seem to concur. If the term of the present Congress was not so near its close, the House of Representatives would probably manifest its approbation of the same view by purging itself of the octum of association with one whose labors are so openly in the interest of the oligarchy.

The cause of the country as involved in the war has fairly triumphed over both secret sympathy with the cause of the oligarchy and the fancied local interests which have been combating it, in the House of Representatives, in yesterday's triumphant passage of the Bank bifl. We gave it hearty support; not because fayoring a National Bank policy per se, but as embracing the only possible means of rescuing the value of what is now necessarily the national currency from its present condition. We believe the enactment of the bill cannot fail to create, from first to last, a legitimate business demand for perhaps a thousand million of Government securities, and that that demand will so counteract the labors of the speculators in gold, and those of the sympathizers with the treason of the times to "bear down" the value of these securities, as to keep them at a point in the money market which will enable the Government to command, past peradventure, the financial means of putting down the rebellion. And, further, that without this legislation it would have been utterly impossible to put it down in due time, even if all our great armies win the victories it is hoped they will achieve this spring. We have not the slightest doubt that they will win sufficient of these to change entirely the aspect of our military affairs; and that thus, with the help of the change in the aspect of our financial affairs resulting from the new and extensive demand for our national securities growing out of the enactment of the Bank bill, the cause of the restoration of the Union will speedily be placed upon the footing so ardently desired by all who are truly loyal.

THE SECOND HARTFORD CONVENTION .- The Democratic Convention of Connecticut has nominated M. T. H. Seymour for Governor of that State. The policy of a cessation of hostilities with the rebels is boldly proclaimed. The doctrine of State sovereignty and independence is asserted in the first resolution, while the " heresy of secession" is repudiated in the third. The conscription bill is declared to be subversive of the sovereignty of the States, and the State authorities are called upon to "sternly resist" its operation. The "banking system" adopted by the Senate is pronounced unconstitutional and dangerous to the principles on which our Government is founded. The emancipation proclamation is assailed.

Connecticut has not sufficiently escaped from the stigma of the first Hartford convention to be able to trifle with its reputation by so flagrant a repetition of that treasonable affair.

The House yesterday did a most important day's works. The Senate bill to provide a National currency, or the Bank bill as it is usually called, was passed—yeas 78, nays 61. It only needs now the approval of the President to become a law. Congress seems determined to push forward the business of the seesion with requisite promptitude.

It is stated that the Presidenthas received a letter from General Cameron, resigning his position of Minister to St. Petersburg; and that Cassius M. Clay, having been reappointed. will receive his instructions, and proceed at once to St. Petersburg.

The officers of the 14th New Hampshire Regiment have sent home an earnest appeal for the maintenance of the Government. They say that Northern sympathy with Secession is the cause of more discouragement than all the lost battles and fruitless campaigns of the war. A bill to promote enlistments has been reported in the New York Legislature. It provides that volunteers now in the service shall receive $50 bounty on re-enlisting for one year, or $75 for three years or the war.

W. H. S. Hammer, a banker in St. Louis, has has been arrested and sent to Indianapolis for trial,on charge of counterfeiting and passing a large amount of postal currency

We are indebted to J. Shillington, Odeon Building, for an early copy of the admirable March number of the Atlantic Monthly.

AN IMPORTANT LETTER PROM GEN. SCOTT CALLED FOR .- A resolution was introduced in Senate on Thursday, calling on the Secretary of War for a letter written to him by Gen.

Scott, October 4, 1861. The New York Times This letter will show that Gen McClellan treated Gen. Scott with personal disrespect while the latter was Commander-in-Chief-to such an extent that a courf-martial would have been demanded but for fear of injury which the consequent revulsions would do the cause in showing insubordination in an officer of such rank. It also shows Gen. Scott's determination to resign his position as soon as Gen. Halleck should have arrived from California, to aid the government with his counsels and influence.

FROM MEXICO. Abandonment of Jalapa by the French-Assertinations - Scarcity of Provisions

Kumored Conspiracies. I y the arrival of the English steamer at Hayana from Vera Cruz (16th) the Diario has later news from Mexico, which, however, is of but little importance. Particulars of the recent fight in which it is alleged that 500 Mexicans had defeated 1,200 French, were published in the Heraldo of Mexico. But little cradit was given to them however. The French journals at Vera Cruz have nothing to say of the alleged battle, and no particulars of the combat whatever, had been received at the French headquarters in that city.

The abandonment of Jalapa by the French had caused some excitment in Mexico, and reports said it had been again taken possession of by the Mexicans. The French had also given up several other small towns. It was said that during the French occupation of Jalapa many soldiers had been assassinated by the people. We have the particulars of the bombardment of Acapulco. These, however, have already been published here. The abandonment of Jalana was probably caused by a desire of Gen. Forey to concentrate all his troops for a general advance. It was, however, stated at the Capital that the French intended to abandon entirely their present road to the capital. Mexican accounts also state that the forces of "the enemy were between Perote, San Audes, Chalchicomula, San Augustine, Quecholae and Fecamachua-Acatzuigo had been occupied by troops of Ortega. Forey was still at Orizaba, though his arrival had been announced at San Angustine del Palmer. From the Veracruzano we learn, by way of Jalapa, the reports had reached that place announcing the arrival of Gen. Losado and other conservative officers at Guadalajora. It was rumered that a serious dispute had taken place between Comonfort and Ortega,but the precise nature of it is not ascertained. Desertions were very frequent from among the troops in Puebla and the surrounding country-caused by the scarcity of provisions, many of the men being half starved. A conspiracy, it was stated, hat been discovered it the brigade of Gen. O'Haran, and that a number of officers were implicated in it, As the French troops were leaving Puebla it was reported that they had been fired upon by the people, and a number wounded.

Mr. Powell submitted a resolution for the appointment of a special committee of three to investigate into and report on the circumstances of the imprisonment and release of D. A. Mahoney and D. Sherward, of Iowa, and Andrew D. Duff, of Ill. Laid over.

Mr. Fessenden presented the credentials of the Hon. Lott M. Morrill, re-elected an U. S. Senator from Maine, from the fourth of March Various reports on private cases were made and referred or otherwise appropriately disposed of. Mr. Lane, of Kansas, introduced a bill granting the right of way over the military reserve Fort Leavenworth to the Leavenworth Railroad and Telegraph company. Referred. Mr. Sumner reported from the Foreign Relations Committee a bill to carry into effect the convention with Peru; committed. Mr. Wilson, of Mass., reported from the Military Affairs Committee the bill to promote the health and efficiency, &c., of the army; com-Subsequently the bill to indemnify the President and other officers of the government against prosecutions for state arrests, &c., was taken up, and was opposed by Mr. Powell.

House.-A committee of conference was asked on the bill providing ways and means for the support of the Government. Mr. Train, from the Committee on Public Buildings, to whom was referred the resolution in relation to the removal of John Plant, one of the Capitol police, reported that the power of removal was vested in the Commissioner of Public Buildings, and that the member who introduced the resolution had requested the committee to take no further action. Adopted. The House resumed the consideration of the Post Office reform bill.

LOCAL NEWS.

FUNERAL OF COMMANDER WOODHULL .- The funeral services of the late Commander Maxwell Woodhull, U. S. N. (the particulars of whose sad death we recorded in yesterday's Star), were celebrated this morning, in the Unitarian church (Rev. Dr. Channing's), corner of Sixth and Dats. Long before the arrival of the remains from the late residence of deceased, on F street, a large crowd had assembled, and took pesition outside and inside the church; and as the corpse approached, followed by the relatives and particular friends of deceased, the crowd speedily filled the edifice. The remains repose in a plain metallic coffin, mounted with a silver plate, upon which was inscribed the name and age of deceased, and is the same in which the remains were brought to this city from Baltimore. The coffin was completely enveloped in the American flag, upon which was laid the cap and sword of deceased, and a beautiful wreath of white roses. The coffin was borne into the church by a detail of six marines in full uniform, and was placed immediately in front of the altar, and around which stood the pall-bearers and the marines. After the choir had chanted a funeral dirge, the Rev. Dr. Channing read the burial service, and then delivered a discourse, wherein he referred to the sudden death of deceased, and to his patriotic services in the cause of his country; having been called at the commencement of the rebellion to a most responsible position. Commander Woodhull, said the speaker, was known as one of the most courageous men in the service, and the essence of that courage was a hope full of immortality.

Dr. Channing concluded by speaking words of hope and comfort to the family and friends of deceased, and after another chant by the choir, the cortege proceeded to the Congressional cemetery, preceded by the Marine Band and two companies of marines, commanded by Captain C. G. McCauley and Lieutenants Sells, Saltmarsh and Peet, who acted as the funeral escort. The pall bearers were Admiral Davis, Commander Wise, Captains Dove and Nicholson, and Dr. McNairy of the Navy, Majors Cash and Nicholson of the Marine Corps, Prof. Bache of the Coast Survey, Mayor Wallach and Mr. Moran.

ANOTHER DESCENT BY THE POLICE. Some weeks ago several respectable citizens residing in G street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth, complained to Superintendent Webb, of the Metropolitan Police, of a house in that vicinity, which they declared to be an annoyance and a nuisance, because of its disorderly character. The subject was referred to Sergeant Reed, who endeavored to obtain sufficient evidence to arrest the inmates, but failed until last night. Cries of "murder" being heard in the house, Patrolman Voss entered, and found a girl named Anna Walker very drunk and disorwho accused a young man named Schneider (who was not in the house) with assault and battery upon her. She was taken to the guardhouse; and also Philomenia Cook and Kate Smith, other girls The young man was afterwards found, and this morning the budget of cases was taken up for trial. First, Schnieder was tried for the assault and battery. Anna Walker charged him with striking her on the mouth, and exhibited her bruised lip as evidence. The other girls awore that he did not strike her, but put his hand over her mouth to keep her from making a noise; and said she probably bruised her lip when she fell—drunk—on the floor. Schneider was held to security for peace, and Anna Walker was fined 82 for being drunk and disorderly. Kate Smith was charged with being disorderly, but the case was dismissed.

Philomenia Cook was taken up for trial for keeping a disorderly and bawdy house. The testimony of respectable citizens—two of them members of the City Councils—proved that the reputation of the house was that of a bawdy house, and disturbances of the peace occur there. Women of lewd character go in and out frequently: also, men-soldiers and officers mostly. And Mr. Schneider testified to its lewd character. The accused had admitted herself the proprietress; and Justice Drury held her to bail for court. The Superintendent of Police will attend to the temporary possession of the house.

ANOTHER ROBBERT.-Night before last, or rather early on Friday morning, some thief en-tered the house of I'r W. McConnell, No. 482 Pa. avenue, and proceeded to a room occupied by Serg't Truedo, of the 36th N. Y. volunteers, and took therefrom the sergeant's pantaloons, which contained be reen eight and ten dellars in small change and a package of fifty pennies.

The weight of the pennies in the pockets probably deceived the thief, who, doubtless, thought he had obtained a prize, and therefore did not extend his search for plunder further in that room. There were also in the pants pockets a number of receipts, and a Government order for transportation to the army-Serg't Truedo being on his way to rejoin his regiment. The thief or thieves then proceeded to Dr. McCon-nell's room and tried the door; but the doctor awaking, and making some slight noise, probably, in arising, the thief decamped. A piece of candle was afterwards found in the passage, and the front door was found open. A few weeks ago, a young man, who said his name was Cook, applied for and obtained a room at the doctor's, and asked to be furnished with a night key; stating that he was employed in the Government Printing Office, and that he was one of the night hands, and consequently could never be in till late, and did not wish to disturb the family. Cook, however, after remaining there about two weeks, took Preach leave, taking with him his baggage; and, as he retained the night key, suspicion attaches to him as the perpetrator of this theft.

U. S. Consistent Consistent. Houseto-morrow (Sunday) evening will doubt. THREE NICE DUOKE-Yesterday afternoon three "gay young dacks," named Mary Black, Sally Ross, and Rose Howard, halling from a house on Twelfth street, went on a jolly good spree; having an open carriage to themselves and stopping often to take a smile. Near the Capitol, they became very disorderly, singing and cursing as they went along. Officer Pieres took them in charge, and the hack was driven to Justice Ferguson's office, into whose prefined $4.94 cach; but the latter was so drunk that it was thought necessary to keepther until morning paid a fine of $10.94. DECISION OF THE CONFEDERATE NOTE CASE. At 5 o'clock p. m. yesterday, according to agree. ment, Justice Rowland decided the case of the United States vs. Charles Rosenbuch, charged with passing counterfeit Confederate notes upon W. T. Smithson. The case was dismissed, the evidence failing to prove that the money was sobered, and she was taken to the Eastern lock-up, where she spent the night, and in the counterfeit, or that, if it was, the defendant had any knowledge of the fact. Whether the matter will end with this ex. amination we are not informed. Mr. Smithson has said that he is satisfied that a band of parties are engaged in the business of circulating spurious Confederate money, and that he intends to ferret them out. Probably other cases will grow out of this. STARTED AWAY AGAIN .- James Anderson was arrested some weeks ago charged with picking the pocket of Capt. Irwin in one of the street cars, and a respectable young gentleman was unfortunately arrested with him as an accomplice by mistake, which was soon discor. cred and Anderson alone held. The evidence was not sufficient to justify his commitment for court, and the case was dismissed. Captain McKelvey, of the Metropolitan Detectives, by a process peculiar to the police, induced him to vamose from the city; but he soon returned, and in his beats around the city was again arrested by order of Capt, McKenlvey, and after a brief stay with the police at their office was put out of the city. WASHINGTON MONEY MARKET .- Quotations for stocks, coin and uncurrent money, furnished by Lewis Johnson & Co., Bankers:
